5 ESSENTIAL TIPS

Your objectives and goals: Take into consideration the number of attendees and when you want to plan your event and allow plenty of time for proper planning. Decide what the event is for: -organizing an incentive to reward guests or else special art tours etc..

The budget for your event is a major component when planning a program ; deciding all components, from destination to hotel category and activities to include. Having a budget will allow you to line up costs of the different components to avoid unwanted surprises. Keep very close control all along the way and make adjustments as needed to keep final cost within the budget originally planned.

The destination and date: Italy has many different destinations and some are very seasonal and with sever logistics to be considered. Just to give you a little help here is a short list :

Rome - Florence - Milan - Venice - Naples - Sicily. Bari (Apulia) These destinations are good all year around and coming in low season (winter) may save you something on the budget with better hotel rates. meaning November - December - March Amalfi Coast- Sicily - Italian Riviera - Italian Lakes All these fantastic locations are better enjoyed when coming : March-April-May-June and September-October- November.

Italian Riviera & Sardinia: These 2 destinations are wonderful to visit from May to end of September saving the seaside as a major component of the eventual program avoiding July&August
